RACCOMANDAZIONE DEL CONSIGLIO (MAGGIO 2019)

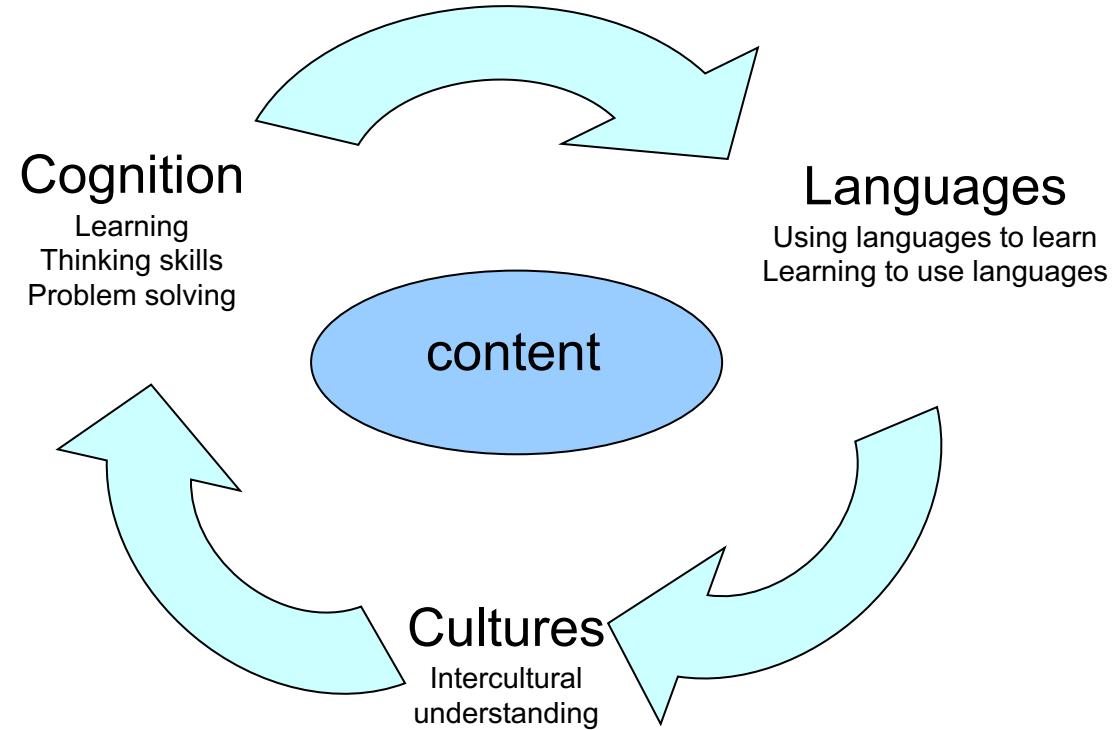

CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning) was introduced in the Italian school system in 2003 through a Reform Law, which made it mandatory for upper secondary schools⁷¹.

The introduction of CLIL was implemented in all Licei and Istituti Tecnici (upper secondary education) in 2014/15 as part of a comprehensive school reform. In practice, one non-language subject must be taught in a foreign language in the final year at Licei and Istituti Tecnici. In the latter, the subject must be chosen from the specialist areas. In the final three years of Licei linguistici, two different nonlanguage subjects must be taught through two different foreign languages.

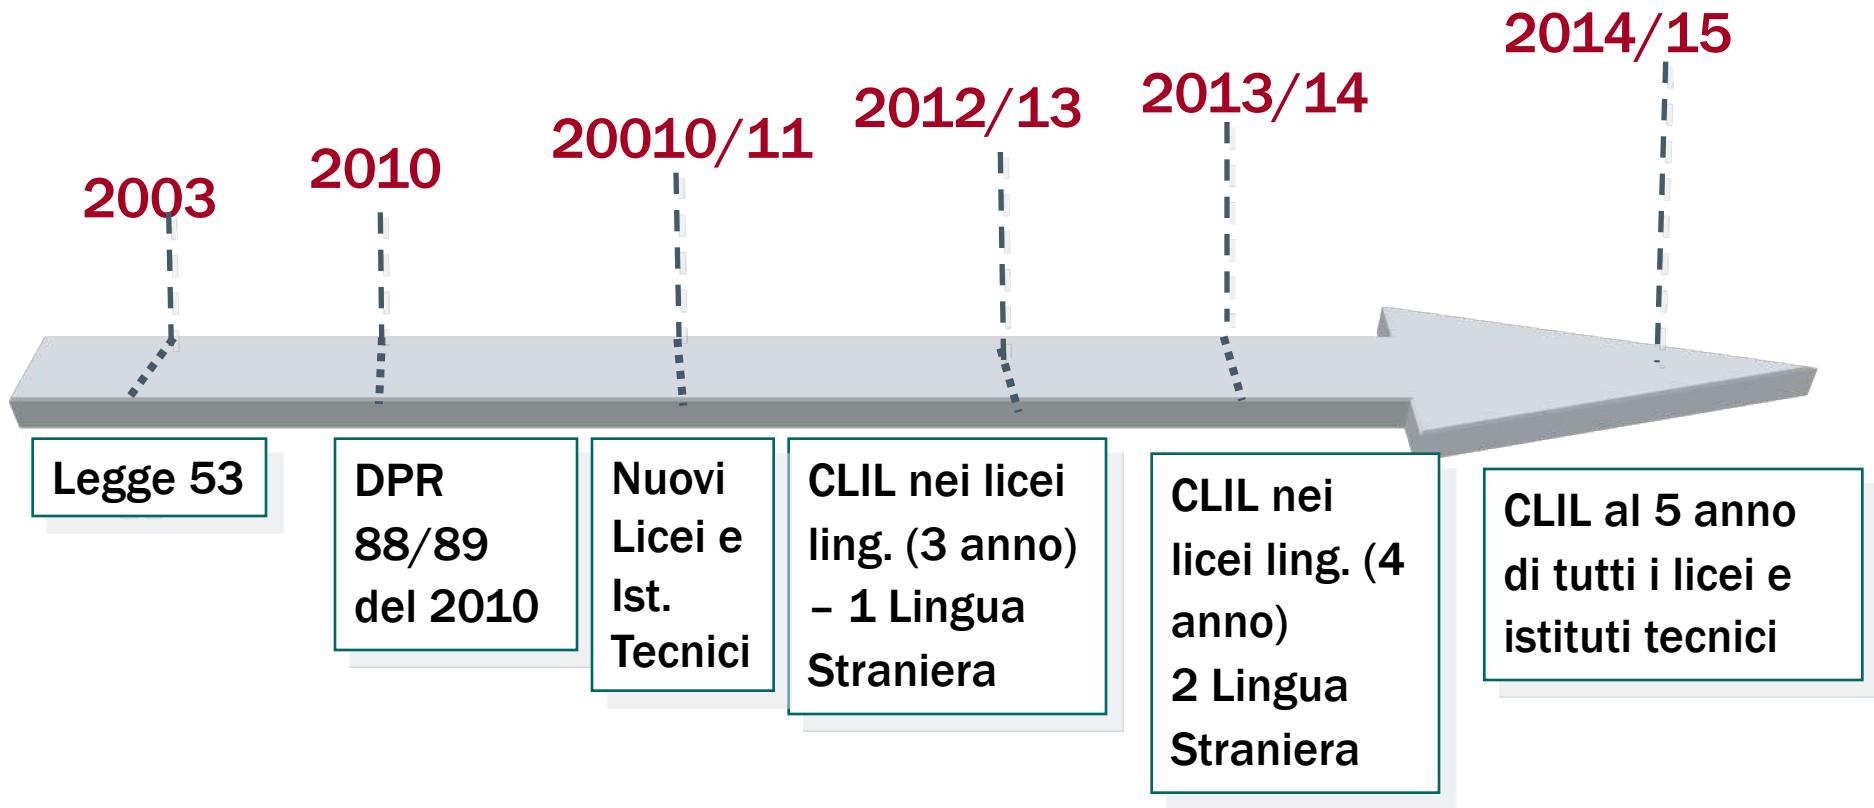

The Ministry of education has defined the competences and qualifications teachers need to teach CLIL classes. They concern the target languages, the non-language subjects and issues relating to methodology and teaching approaches. In particular, CLIL teachers must have attained a C1 level of competence on the scale defined by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). In order to help potential CLIL teachers acquire the appropriate knowledge and skills, the education authorities are financing specific continuing professional development activities. For instance, in 2016, within a new school reform, they launched a National Teacher Training Plan which established a wide range of training programmes in CLIL methodology, which also included teachers from primary, lower secondary and vocational schools.

PROGETTI PILOTA HLD & PTL DALLA RACCOMANDAZIONE DEL CONSIGLIO, 2019

Example of project from the European Centre for Modern Languages in Graz

Pluriliteracies Teaching for Learning (PTL)⁸⁶ shows how teachers and materials develop ways of fostering deep learning by paying attention to the development of students' subject specific literacies, as well as their conceptual understanding and automatization of subject-specific procedures, skills and strategies. By communicating about their evolving understanding in increasingly sophisticated ways, students internalize these understandings and ways of acting and thinking. PTL not only makes the links between content and language learning visible, but it also shows how teachers can create learning trajectories by taking students' current abilities as a starting point, and tracing their progress along the learning pathway.

Working together with parents in order to maintain home languages which were not taught in school, has proved highly beneficial in the case of Scoil Bhríde primary school in Blanchardstown, Dublin. In this school, 80 per cent of students have a foreign background and speak a total of 51 languages. Principal Deirdre Kirwan⁴⁶ developed a strategy for the school, which encourages parents and students to embrace their native linguistic skills alongside English and Irish.
