(ANSA) - Tehran, March 3 - A 21-year-old Italian student has won the first Erasmus scholarship to Iran, sources said Thursday.

Valentina Simeone, a student at Cagliari University, has been living and studying at Tehran University since September.

"It was a shock at first, especially due to linguistic and organizational problems and the dress code," she told ANSA.

She added that professors and fellow students - many of whom had never set eyes on a Western student before - helped her integrate.

Simeone said she wants to do a thesis on relations between Italy and Iran.
